NEW YORK, N.Y., (September 7, 2017) – Salon Media Group, Inc. (OTCQB: SLNM) today announced that it has formalized its ongoing arrangement with Tout, the TV Network for the Internet, which is expected to continue to increase the distribution of Salon’s live video programming. The agreement combines Salon Media’s current video distribution on Facebook Live, Twitter, and Salon.com with Tout’s targeted video programming across more than 3,500 publisher partner sites.

“We have been very focused on opportunities to grow the reach of our highly popular live video series,” says Jordan Hoffner, CEO, Salon Media Group.

Hoffner believes the increased scale may create new opportunities for marketers, especially within the programmatic advertising area. “We continue to invest in growing our digital video because we know that the content we create in the areas of news & politics, culture, and innovation resonates with our astute and engaged audiences and offers marketers a tremendous opportunity to engage with those viewers.”

“Salon is a pioneer in digital media and we are looking forward to bringing their growing live video content to new audiences,” said Michael Downing, CEO of Tout. “Helping Salon Media deliver the most relevant video across thousands of premium sites is a powerful way to drive audience-extension and engagement beyond their owned and operated property.”
